Dear Dr. Welsh:

This 80-year-old male was recently discharged from St. Michael's Hospital diagnosed with Staph aureus bacteremia, was called for a virtual assessment.

Mr. Lenskyj presented with Staph aureus bacteremia and right middle lobe pneumonia with a past history of coronary artery disease, diabetes, atrial fibrillation and renal impairment. During the course of his illness, he had a cardiac arrest which required an ICD placement. He was in Bridgepoint Hospital, but was discharged a week ago.

Mr. Lenskyj is feeling better, but has chronic intermittent backache with no progression and uses Tylenol 500 mg 1 daily with some benefit. He has no fever or chills or shortness of breath, but he still noticed some tingling of his toes and the swelling of his feet have been reduced since he was placed on Lasix. The dose of Lasix has been reduced from 80 mg b.i.d. to 80 mg daily recently.

Blood test on August 20, 2021 showed 2 blood cultures post-therapy were negative. The creatinine was 110, electrolytes normal, Hb 93 g (macrocytic) and the WBC was 5.69 with increased eosinophils of 1.04.

The patient is due to have blood test next week that you have requested and I recommended to add vitamin B12, folate and serum protein electrophoresis. Otherwise, no specific appointment was given for reassessment in the infectious disease clinic.

Yours sincerely,
